Membership type and cost	Description
Individual $20	Anybody may join; an amateur radio license is not required. Voting rights depend on your residence, as described below. Membership expires one year after payment is received.
Family $25	Anybody may join; an amateur radio license is not required. All members of a family must reside in the same household. Voting rights depend on your residence, as described below. Only one vote per family is allowed, regardless of the number of members. Membership expires one year after payment is received.
Free	Only available to individuals (not families) who have passed the Technician license test at a test session organized by the Arctic Amateur Radio Club. Subject to verification. Voting rights depend on your residence, as described below. Membership expires one year after the date the individual passed the test, or one year after the expiration of the individual's current paid membership, if any.

Voting rights: Individuals and families are considered voting members or families if the address of their place of residence is assigned a ZIP code beginning with 997 by the United States Postal Service. Members or families elsewhere may not vote, and are disregarded for the purposes of establishing a quorum.
